Senator Zien:
Mike

I used the same definition of health care facility, as used in amendments to last year's concealed carry bill. The definition covers hospitals, mental health hospitals, nursing homes, community-based residential facilities, state veteran's homes, state mental health institutes, state centers for the developmentally disabled, and the UW Hospital and Clinics. It also covers some less frequently seen facilities such as infirmaries and local health department dispensaries for treating tuberculosis — I do not know whether we currently have infirmaries in Wisconsin. The definition does not cover doctor's offices, medical clinics (other than UW Hospital and Clinics), outpatient surgery centers (also called ambulatory surgery centers), or dentist offices. If you do want to cover medical clinics, I could refer to them as "buildings primarily used to provide medical care and treatment."

This amendment allows the person in charge of a particular campus to determine whether to permit carrying of concealed weapons on the campus. Within the UW system, a "chancellor" is in charge of a four-year campus (except there is one chancellor in charge of all the two-year campuses as a group, which is why you see an exception in the amendment), a "dean" is in charge of a two-year campus, and a "director" is in charge of a technical college district.
